In addition to improving function, the practice of Qigong and Tai Chi can profoundly impact general well-being and sleep quality. CULTIVATING COMPASSION
People have a variety of reasons for wanting to learn about and cultivate compassion, but in some ways we are all suffering—be it from pain, loss, frustration, dissatisfaction or unfulfilled desire for happiness. However, we are not powerless in the face of our circumstances. It is possible to consciously cultivate positive states of mind and diminish negative states of mind and so transform our experience and our reactions to life’s circumstances and people around us. In this way it is possible to change our lives and bring about change in the world.
The sessions introduce what compassion is, why it is beneficial for us with practices based on a Buddhist perspective and from a modern scientific point of view. The class has formal practice, interactive or contemplative activities, instructor led presentation and discussion and video presentation.
